MIAMI (June 13) — No Jive Productions is thrilled to bring back to the stage the story of one man's internal struggle with life's reality and the complications that often come when destiny leads us down an unfamiliar path in “His Double Life,” co-written, produced and directed by No Jive Founder and President/CEO Nial Martin.

After rave reviews following its world premier last summer and with a fan base that asked for an encore, “His Double Life” is back with a brand new cast. No Jive Productions will also be filming the show for later DVD distribution. It all takes place at the Joseph Caleb Center Auditorium, 5400 NW 22nd Avenue, Miami.

Since founding the company in 1996, Martin has provided shows that “educate, enlighten, inform and entertain” while helping to influence the culture and shape of views of South Florida citizens. He attributes the growing success of and respect for No Jive Productions to the support of the community. The play has been hailed by The Miami Herald “a closet packed with secrets,” while The Miami Times calls it “an outstanding show that gives a refreshing course on unconditional love.”

The all-star cast features Alicia Simpson as Momma Sanders, the family matriarch along with Nathaniel Cooper (Daddy Sanders), Jean Dar (Matthew Sanders), Brittany L. Smith (Vanessa Clark), DuVonne Moore (Wynnika Jones), Annisha Battle-Rollins (Cheryl Sanders) and Thomas Troy Brooks (Theo Martin). Carlos Harris is the producer, Joseph Reed III is the assistant director and Simpson serves as associate producer.

The hit play is the first in a trilogy about the Sanders family. Martin and other members of the cast are available for interviews. A question and answer session with Martin about the show, the company and the motivation behind the plays is available to the press upon request.
